"ALONE AT LAST"
Universal One-Reel Comedy
With
Arthur Lake and Olive Hasbrouck

So delighted is Jack that his rival is going away for the summer, he takes him to the train in his roadster and gets pinched for speeding. He spends five days in jail and when he comes out he finds that his girl's cousin has been on the scene and again he is thwarted. But the cousin finally pulls stakes and Jack settles down for a little chat with his beloved, only to be interrupted by the ringing of the bell. In comes his hated rival, back home because his cabin in the country had burned down. Jack is beside himself with despair, but he suddenly thinks of an idea and calls the police station telling them that the real speeder is there and to come and get him. And so with his rival in the hoose-gow, Jack is at last secure in being alone with his sweetheart. He hadn't figured on her father though, and that worthy appears on the scene and suggests that it is time to put out the light. Jack agrees with him and reaches over and puts the room in darkness.
